

A Guide to Reading the Course Schedule

Courses in the schedule are sorted first by department. For example, all math courses offered during the year are in one group, all English classes in another, and so on. Departments are arranged alphabetically. Look for the College Orientation/Success and related courses under "Skills for College Success." Literature is found under "English" and fine arts courses are listed under "History/ Humanities." Bible and ministry courses are found under "Religion." Varsity sports are included under "Physical Education," choirs under "Music," and drama participation under "Theatre."

Within each department, courses are grouped by the term in which they are offered. The first character in each line indicates the term: F = fall, S = spring, U = summer. Alternate-year courses that are not available this year but which will be available 2009-2010 are listed at the end of each department. Each course is listed in the following format:

F BiSc 100 Intro to Biology 4 10:00-10:50 M W F C28 H Boschmann Lim 40, Fee
Lab A 8:00-9:50 T C10
Lab B 10:00-11:50 T C10

The course in this example is offered by the Biological Science Department during the fall semester. A student earns 4 hours of credit. It meets for lecture at 10:00 on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays in Charles Hall Room 28. Hugo Boschmann is the instructor. The course also has a two-hour lab to be completed on Tuesdays in Charles Hall room 10. The student may choose either lab A or B.

Notes at the end of a line call attention to a prerequisite, a class limit, a fee, or other special conditions related to the class. See the section below for an interpretation of the various other symbols used in the course offerings.
